DUTIES & ACHIEVEMENTS

My roles at Mabuzi and Creative Juice Lab had me preparing artwork for a variety of print methods and media, including vehicle wraps, large format displays, screen prints, vinyl transfers, embroidery, and more. I also revamped the Mabuzi website in my time there and added dynamic, animated elements to increase interest.

My freelance design as Youngblood Graphics has brought a variety of projects. After leaving Caruso's Natural Health, I continued to produce TV commercials for them under this moniker.

DUTIES & ACHIEVEMENTS

While at Caruso's Natural Health, I designed a range of print media, books, point of sale merchandise, and advertisements to coincide with product launches and promotions.

Seeing a need, I advised on and facilitated the adoption of cloud-based file storage to increase company-wide efficiency.

I ultimately transitioned from these day-to-day design tasks to video production, and ended up producing dozens of TV commercials for a range of channels.

DUTIES & ACHIEVEMENTS

My role at Western Sydney University has allowed me to continue with my video work, as well as a variety of innovative learning design projects.

I have worked on a 3D interactive Virtual Lab as part of a multidisciplinary team, solo developed a Height Safety VR simulation for construction students, and much more.

I have led large and complex projects, advised on project management process refinements, participated in strategic leadership meetings, and presented to prominent stakeholders.

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Joshua Byrnes as he would be a valued asset to any team. Joshua is currently working with us at Western Sydney University as a Senior Creative Content Developer in the Technology-Enabled Learning (TEL) team, Office of the PVC Learning & Teaching. I have worked closely with Joshua in my role as TEL Project Manager as he has led and worked on many projects for TEL.

Joshua's output is consistently of a high quality. He has led and worked on numerous video production projects from project scoping to pre-production to filming to post-production. He has designed and developed graphics, 3D assets and animated videos from scratch, meeting the brief that was given to him. He communicates effectively and has made valuable contributions to strategic team discussions by providing specialist knowledge in his field. He has also enthusiastically embraced learning new skills and taking on projects that would require him to upskill while working on the project. For example, Joshua led and developed a VR enhanced environment to teach students safety protocols and practices on a construction site. This was Joshua's first time developing a solution like this and he did it successfully.

Joshua is a reliable team member, who demonstrates leadership qualities through his ability to think strategically about what's best for the team and his willingness to step up when needed. For example, during a film shoot on location with clients, Joshua took responsibility of the shoot when his fellow team member let the team down by behaving badly in front of the client. He also successfully delivered what the client asked for, a virtual field trip, and ensured that our team's relationship with this particular client was still positive.

I have always appreciated when a team member can effectively manage multiple projects at any one time, and Joshua has consistently shown this. Regardless of whether he is leading the project or a team member, Joshua can manage his time efficiently to manage competing priorities. Additionally, most of the projects that Joshua leads are client projects, so this puts extra pressure on deadlines. Currently, he is leading 6 projects and is a team member of a further 3 projects. For context, that is more than any other team member.

If you have any further questions about Joshua, feel free to reach me at 0437 963 944.

Kind regards,

Liz Lai

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to provide this reference for Joshua Byrnes, who worked as a Graphic Designer at Caruso's Natural Health for the past five years. During his time with us, Joshua consistently demonstrated exceptional creativity, technical skills, and a strong work ethic.

His key responsibilities included designing and developing point-of-sale materials, creating prototype mock-ups, assisting in the construction of television commercials and 3D modelling, in all these areas, he excelled, producing high-quality work that contributed significantly to our projects. He frequently went above and beyond expectations, ensuring that tight deadlines were met and that the final product was of the highest standard.

Beyond his technical abilities, Joshua was an absolute pleasure to work with. He was a reliable team player who maintained a positive attitude, collaborated effectively with colleagues, and consistently brought fresh ideas to the department. His dedication and professionalism made him an invaluable part of our creative team and we are sorry to see him move on.

I have no doubt that Joshua will be a valuable asset to any organisation. I highly recommend him for any opportunity he pursues, and I am confident that he will continue to produce outstanding work.

JOSHUA BYRNES

Graphic Designer / Video Producer / Content Developer

Thank you for your time. A little bit about me...

I live in the lower Blue Mountains with my wife Olivia and our three children, Arthur, Felix, and Eloise. When they're not keeping me busy, I like to play the guitar, read, bike, and play video games.

I'm an introvert, but work happily with teams of all sizes and make-ups, and I have a keen eye for organisation and efficiency.
